

VIRTUAL EGG HUNT

EASTER FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

"Egg hunts are proof our kids can find something when they really want too."

Host Your Own Virtual Egg Hunt

By Susan at Over the River

It's looking like there won't be any road trips for Easter this year. So we'll be celebrating virtually and we're still going to have a great time!

One of the things my husband and I will be doing is 'hosting' an egg hunt at our house! I have some plastic eggs left over from last year, so I'll be using those, but we're also including some printable eggs that work just as well.

How

We'll be hiding eggs "I Spy" style and sending photos to our granddaughter so that she can 'find' the eggs.

1. Hide eggs - You technically can hide the same egg every time since this is a virtual hunt.
2. Send pictures by text or email
3. Your grandkids find the egg in the photo and text you back.

As you can see in these photos we hid eggs in lots of different areas of our home, especially the areas that our grandkids would recognize from when they visit - like where they sleep, their favorite toys, etc.

Adaptations

- Send pictures over a week - perhaps just a couple each day.
- If your grandkids have plastic eggs at their house, they can hide some for you too! If they don't have eggs just share the egg printable with them.
- If you have access to a lot of eggs, hide them all and do a "live" virtual hunt with the kids through FaceTime.
- Hide a small Easter prize (their favorite type of candy, a small toy etc...) in one of the photos and tell them what they are looking for. Let them know that once they find it you'll send it their way for them to enjoy!

Show us how you use these ideas by emailing us at hello@overtheriverlife.com or tagging us on facebook or instagram @overtheriverlife. We love to see and share how this community is connecting with family virtually and you help us be better at it too! Happy Easter friends!
